ABOUT

STAYCEE PEARL dance project & Soy Sos (SPdp&SS) exists to celebrate and explore the full range of Blackness and culture through dynamic dance-centered performances and experiences. Incorporating immersive soundscapes, SPdp&SS explores innovative conceptual possibilities while participating in meaningful collaboration. Under the leadership of Choreographer Staycee Pearl and Sound Designer Herman 'Soy Sos' Pearl, SPdp&SS produces programming around compelling concepts and themes driven by socio-political world issues. SPdp&SS also creates engaging works inspired by celebrated legendary and contemporary artists of the African Diaspora.

HISTORY:

STAYCEE PEARL dance project & Soy Sos started as an informal incubator in 2009 with its first concert PUPA. From 2009 - 2013, SPdp&SS was resident dance company of Kelly Strayhorn Theater. SPdp&SS ended this formative residency with the premiere of ...on being..., an investigation of race, gender, and personal identity in relation to conversations around Post-Blackness. Since these early works, SPdp&SS has created several evening-length works, including ABBEY: In The Red, a work inspired by the unique Jazz vocals of Abbey Lincoln and the civil rights movement she helped give voice to, sym, inspired by Octavia Butler’s final novel, Fledgling, and sol., a celebration of the soul music of the late 50s to mid 70s.

SPdp&SS is the resident dance company of PearlArts, a Pittsburgh-based arts organization founded by Herman and Staycee Pearl in 2012. PearlArts serves the community with movement classes, public events, sound experiences, and artist residencies. PearlArts is the home of PearlDiving Movement Residency: a month-long residency for artists making dance centered multimedia works. This unique experience provides a generous stipend, work and live space, and a variety of resources to support the work of both local and national artists.

Black Joy. Femme. Cycles of Life and Love

CIRCLES: going in, is a full-length dance work celebrating #BlackGirlMagic. Layering dance, visual arts, and original club music, the work presents snapshots of popular culture through choreographer Staycee Pearl's lens as a Black woman. With an ensemble of five dancers, CIRCLES: going in is a colorful, unapologetic, and daring path to self-reclamation.

Central to the work is a sound score of hip-hop, techno and ballroom music mixed live throughout the performance by Herman "Soy Sos" Pearl. Pulsing beats, bass lines and sample vocals bring the joy, spontaneity and uncensored freedom of self-expression from the club to the stage. Rebellious and confident, the music is a celebration and affirmation of the deep influence from queer, BIPOC and femme artists in music and pop culture.
CIRCLES: going in premiered October 28-30, 2021 at the August Wilson African American Cultural Center in Pittsburgh, PA. The work is a National Performance Network (NPN) Creation & Development Fund Project co-commissioned by Kelly Strayhorn Theater, The Joyce Theater, and NPN. More information: www.npnweb.org. CIRCLES was made possible by the New England Foundation for the Arts' National Dance Project, with lead funding from the Doris Duke Charitable Foundation and The Andrew W. Mellon Foundation. Co-commissioning Partners are Kelly Strayhorn Theater, August Wilson African American Cultural Center, and The Joyce Theater. The development of CIRCLES: going in is made possible in part by the National Center for Choreography at The University of Akron (NCCAkron). CIRCLES: going in is supported in part by The Pittsburgh Foundation’s Advancing Black Arts in Pittsburgh Fund, Heinz Endowments, and The Opportunity Fund.

The sound score for CIRCLES: going in was created in collaboration with Herman “Soy Sos” Pearl and revered music artists from the experimental and underground club scene including: Queen Jo (Philadelphia), DJ Haram (Philadelphia), Ixa (Berlin/Philadelphia), Yah Lioness (Pittsburgh), Madam Dolores (Pittsburgh), DOTGOV (Pittsburgh), Kilamanzego (Philadelphia), Kha'DJ (Pittsburgh/NYC), Geña (Puerto Rico/Pittsburgh) and Meejah (Copenhagen/South Korea).

Over the course of many months, the collaborators engaged in an exchange of vocal and musical elements, including freestyle and vocal sessions. Contributions were based on the collaborators' response to the dancers' movement on stage. The result was the accumulation of an audio library of beats, rhymes, chants, bass lines, percussion, sample chops and synthesizer textures that are mixed live in the performance space by Soy Sos, presenting a unique, propulsive club-like sound scape for every show.

Dance Review: On Being by Staycee Pearl dance project - Coal Hill Review

"Pearl’s choices usually bring a mix of past and present. Within a phrase of her movement, one may see a big, technical leap reminiscent of her time at the Alvin Ailey school. And in the next second, her dancers may sink to the floor with the release styles more prevalent today."
