“When you know what you want, the entire universe conspires with you to realize it.”

- Protima Gauri (1948-1998),

Founder of Nrityagram Dance Ensemble & Village

THEATRE ETIQUETTE

Audience members are an important and unique part of live theater. Remember that anything you say or do as an audience member will be visible and audible to the performer onstage. Your behavior as a member of the audience will make this performance memorable and enjoyable for everyone. Remember to keep these things in mind:

- ❖ Leave your food, drinks, and gum in your classroom.
- ❖ Turn off all electronics. An unexpected beep or ring in the middle of the performance will distract the audience members and the performers!
- ❖ Remember to respond appropriately and at the correct times. Make sure you pay attention at all times, to let the performer know you are engaged in their performance. They will also let you know what is appropriate and what is not. Some performers will want a lot of audience interaction and some will want none. Make sure you know what is appropriate for the performance you are seeing. Applauding at the end of a show is always appreciated.
- ❖ Open your eyes, ears, and heart to the whole experience! You will get more out of it! Enthusiasm is key!
- ❖ Be respectful of your teachers, the performers, and your classmates. The experience should be enjoyable for everyone!

NRITYAGRAM DANCE VILLAGE

The Nrityagram dance village is located outside Bangalore, India. It was founded in 1990 by Odissi dancer Protima Gauri, who converted ten acres of farmland into a setting for the study, practice and teaching of Odissi dance. At Nrityagram, dance is a way of life. Reminiscent of ancient ashrams where gurus imparted not only technique but also a philosophy of being, this is a creative space where dancers, musicians and choreographers live together, sharing their skills and developing their art. To enrich their practice, dancers are also taught yoga and martial arts along with Sanskrit and classical literature. As knowledge passes from guru to disciple, the continuity of the classical arts is ensured.

For almost two decades, Surupa Sen and Bijayini Satpathy have researched and expanded the dance vocabulary of Odissi dance and have developed a style that distinguishes the dancers of the Nrityagram School. A unique blend of traditional knowledge with contemporary understanding and application makes Nrityagram the only institution of its kind in the world. The outside world, too, is an integral part of Nrityagram. Choreographers, movement specialists, sculptors, painters, writers, musicians and theatre practitioners from all over the world frequently visit the village to perform and conduct workshops and seminars in their areas of practice.

NRITYAGRAM DANCE ENSEMBLE

The Nrityagram Dance Ensemble, Nrityagram's resident company, is regarded as one of the foremost dance companies of India. Led by Artistic Director Surupa Sen and longtime collaborator and dance partner Bijayini Satpathy, the company has achieved worldwide critical acclaim.

The company is devoted to bringing Odissi – one of the oldest dance traditions in the world – to audiences worldwide. Performed as far back as 200 BC as a sacred ritual dedicated to the gods, Odissi speaks of love and union, between human and divine, transporting viewers to enchanting worlds of magic and spirituality. Its lush lyricism reflects both the motifs of Odisha temple sculpture as well as the poetry from the deep wellsprings of Oriya music.

Although steeped in and dedicated to ancient practice, the Ensemble is committed to carrying Indian dance into the twenty-first century.

SURUPA SEN* | Artistic Director & Choreographer

Surupa Sen (pictured on the right of the photograph) was the first student at Nrityagram, where she began her Odissi training with the late body language genius and architect of Odissi, Guru Kelucharan Mahapatra. She also studied Odissi with Protima Gauri, founder of Nrityagram, and Abhinaya with Smt. Kalanidhi Narayanan. As a child she studied Bharatanatyam to which she attributes her pre-occupation with form and line. Attracted to choreography from her first exposure to western makers of dances, she has worked with dancers and choreographers from across the globe. For over two decades, Surupa has worked with fellow Nrityagram dancer Bijayini Satpathy to research and expand the dance vocabulary of Odissi dance and together they have developed a style that distinguishes the dancers of the Nrityagram School. Surupa has performed across India and the world. She has created five evening-length ensemble works for Nrityagram – Sri In Search of the Goddess (2001), Ansh (2004), Sacred Space (2006), Pratima: Reflection (2008), Samhara (2012).

BIJAYINI SATPATHY* | Director of Dance Education

Bijayini Satpathy (pictured on the left of the photograph) made Nrityagram her home in 1993. Her initial Odissi training was at the Orissa Dance Academy, until she moved to Nrityagram. She has lived and worked there ever since. Bijayini's research on the moving body in all its possibilities has resulted in a scientific body-training program that is sourced from Yoga, Natyashastra, Kalaripayattu, Western fitness methods and Odissi body-conditioning exercises. This makes practice of dance injury-proof and increases the performance life-span of a dancer. She has performed alone, and with the Nrityagram Dance Ensemble, all over the world and has received national and international recognition including the 2003 Mahari Award, the Sanskriti award in 2007 and Sangeet Natak Akademi's Bismillah Khan Yuva Puraskar 2007. In 2011 she received the prestigious Nritya Choodamani from Sri Krishna Gana Sabha, Chennai

ABOUT INDIA

India is located in south Asia. The capital is New Delhi, and the language most people speak is Hindi. A person who is from India is Indian. India is the seventh largest country in the world, and it has the second highest population. A large portion of India is surrounded by the Bay of Bengal, Indian Ocean and Arabian Sea. The Himalayan Mountains stretch along India's northern border. Countries around India include Pakistan, China, Nepal, Bhutan, and Bangladesh.

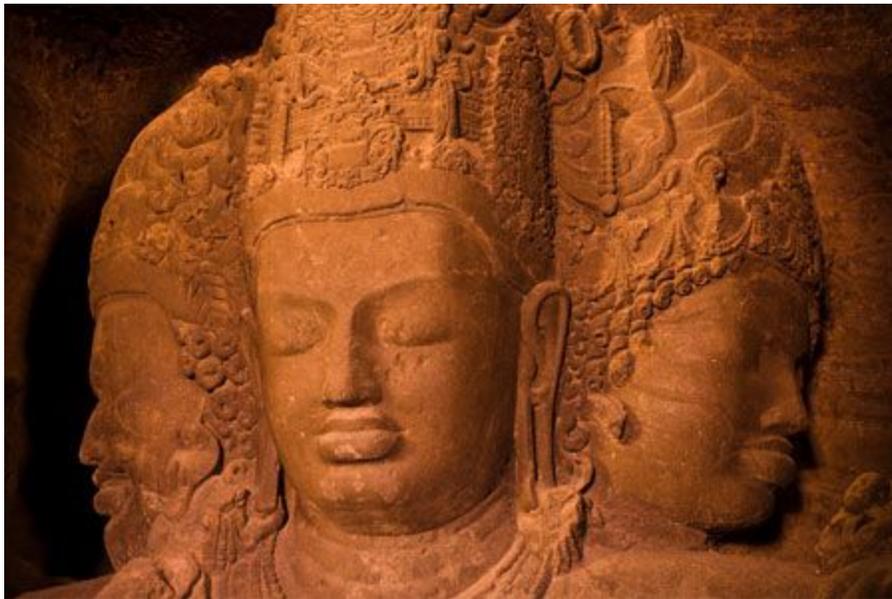

Top 10 Facts about India

- About 1.2 billion people live in India.
- The capital of India is New Delhi, but the largest city is Mumbai.
- Hindi is the main language in India, and most people speak English as well.
- The currency in India is the rupee.
- The main religion in India is Hinduism and the next most popular religion is Islam.
- One of the most important Hindu festivals is Diwali, also called the "festival of lights."
- Women in India wear saris, and men wear dhotis - both are long pieces of cloth draped around the body in a certain way.
- Cows are seen as sacred in India.
- India has a very large film industry called Bollywood.
- Animals found in India include Bengal tigers, elephants, flying foxes, lions and macaques.

HINDUISM

Hinduism is considered to be the oldest “living” religion in the world, since it began at least four thousand years ago and people still follow it today. What we call Hinduism is a huge collection of belief systems that have been influenced and changed over history. Unlike most other major religions, Hinduism has no single founder like Jesus or Mohammad or a central leader like the Pope—because of this, people worship in VERY different ways. Hinduism is the third largest religion in the world, with about 1 billion followers world-wide, most of whom live in India. Hinduism provided the belief structure for all other South Asian religions that followed such as Buddhism, Sikhism, and Jainism, just as Judaism provided the structure for Christianity and Islam. Most Hindus believe in one supreme spirit called Brahman. Hindus believe God is all things in the world—not just a spirit in the sky. Brahman does not just exist; it IS existence. Brahman can be worshiped in many forms, such as other “gods” such as Vishnu, Shiva, Ganesh or Krishna, so many people think Hindus worship many gods, but actually all other gods represent Brahman in different forms. This is similar to Christianity. Christians worship Jesus, God, and the Holy Spirit. They call this the Holy Trinity in Christianity—not three different gods, but three forms of the same God.

THE HISTORY OF ODISSI

Odissi, also referred to as Orissi in older literature, is a major ancient Indian classical dance that originated in the Hindu temples located in Odisha – an eastern coastal state of India.

Odissi, in its history, was performed predominantly by women, and expressed religious stories related to Hindu gods and goddesses and spiritual ideas.

The foundations of Odissi are depicted in Natyashastra, the ancient Hindu Sanskrit text of performance arts. The basic dance units described in Natyashastra, all 108 of them, are identical to those in Odissi.

Buddhist, Jaina and Hindu archaeological sites in Odisha show inscriptions and carvings of dances that are dated back to the 6th to 9th century. Actual sculptures that have survived into the modern era and reliefs, sculptures where a modelled form projects from a flat background, in Odisha temples, dated from the 10th to 14th century, show Odissi dance.

After 12th-century, however, Odisha temples, monasteries and nearby institutions in the eastern Indian subcontinent came under waves of attacks and ransacking by Muslim armies – a turmoil that impacted all arts and eroded the freedoms previously enjoyed by performance artists.

The British government took control of India from 1858-1947. This time is known as the British Raj. During this time, the officials of the colonial government ridiculed the temple traditions, while Christian missionaries launched a sustained attack on the moral outrage of sensuousness of Odissi and other Hindu temple dance arts. Christian missionaries launched the "anti-dance movement" in 1892, to ban all such dance forms, and in 1910, the British colonial government banned temple dancing.

India won its independence on August 15, 1947. Post-independence, the temple dance ban and the cultural discrimination during the colonial rule marshaled a movement by Hindus to question the stereotypes and to revive the regional arts of India, including Odissi. Odissi, along with several other major Indian dances, gained recognition and experienced a resurgence of popularity and demand after efforts by many scholars and performers in the 1950s.

In addition to Odissi, The Sangeet Natak Akademi, the national level academy for performing arts set up by the government of India, recognizes seven classical Indian dances– Bharatanatyam, Kathak, Kathakali, Kuchipudi, Sattriya, Manipuri, and Mohiniyattam.

ODISSI TECHNIQUE

Odissi is a lyrical style of dance and follows body norms quite different from those of other dance forms. Its subtlety is at its core and the intimate relationship experienced between the dance and the music is the feature upon which the aesthetic of the style is built.

Torso movements, a specialty of Odissi, conforms directly to the positions and movements of the lower half of the body. The lower limbs remain steady in relation to torso movement, and the hips do not move. Rather, the upper torso undulates gently in a vertical plane, the head moving in opposite deflections to the torso causing a visual effect of lyrical, undulating beauty.

The movements in Odissi are lyrical, perhaps due to the curved, rolling and spiral nature of the style. The neck movements follow a natural tilt of the head in relation to the angle of the torso and maintain a central line with that of the upper half of the body. The neck also moves sideways, as opposed to being tilted to the sides.

The hands are used in Odissi around the frame of the body in various ways. Circular Movements and semi-circular extensions of the arms moving downwards or upwards from the center of the chest to the sides are often seen. Often one hand is placed above the head, encircling it as it were and the other extended along the line of the leg, in a relaxed position, like that seen in sculptures all over India.

Dance is an expression of individual's joy through movement. This pure expression and release of energy, when in the classical mold, must strictly adhere to the codes of a systematized technique. Odissi bases itself on a wealth of such techniques and abounds in prescribed or hand-down codes. Positions of the feet, toe and heel contacts, body positions, deflections of the body, units of movements, are all graceful and subtle.

BHANGAS

Odissi is learned and performed as a composite of basic dance motifs called the Bhangas. The bhangas involves the lower (footwork), mid (torso) and upper (hand and head) body as three individual sources of expression.

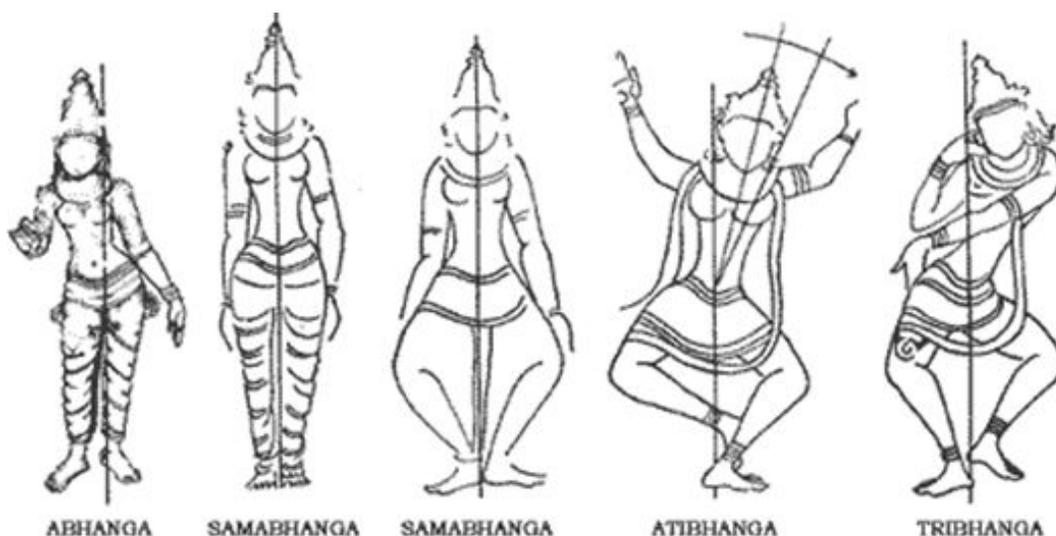

The four basic bhangas in Odissi are:

Abhanga: is an asymmetrical position, with the body weight shifted to either side and one hip consequently dropped lower and the upper body slightly bent to compensate.

Samabhanga: a straight, universal standing position with the feet together in parallel, or with feet and hips turned out

Atibhanga: a great diagonal bend in the torso with the knees bent

Tribhanga: the triple-bent, elaborately graceful position of the body. The head, shoulders, torso and waist, hips and knees zigzag back and forth across the center of gravity to create a balanced asymmetry.

MUDRAS (HASTAS)

Mudras or Hastas are hand gestures which are used to express the meaning of a given act or represent an animal or object. There are 63 Hastas in modern Odissi dance, and dancers spend much of their training mastering all the subtleties of the mudras.

BHEDAS

In Sanskrit, the word bheda refers to the different ways to hold the eyes, head and neck while dancing. In Odissi dance, there are 3 bhedas: Dhristi bheda (eye movements), shiro bheda (head movements) and greeva bheda (neck movements):

Dhristi bheda: "eyes"

1. Samam: Eye straight forward without any movement.
2. Aalokitham: Roll eye balls in a circular pattern.
3. Saachi: Eye balls side to side to the corner of the eyes.
4. Praalokitha: Right to Left eye movement.
5. Nimeelithe: eyes half closed.
6. Ullokitha: eyeballs looking up.
7. Anuvritte: Rapid movement of eye balls up and down.

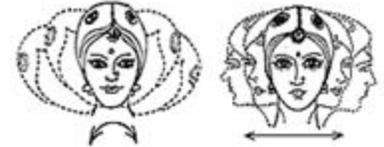

Praalokitha

8. Thathaachaiva: Looking upwards.
9. Avalokita: Looking down.

Shiro bheda: "head"

1. Samam: Head straight forward without any movement.
2. Udvaahitham: Head upwards.
3. Adhomukham: Head downwards.
4. Alolitham: Roll in circular pattern.
5. Dhutam: Right to Left head movement.
6. Kampitam: Up and down head movement.
7. Paravrittam: Sharp turn of head either right or left.
8. Ukshiptam: Head raised.
9. Parivahittam: Slight head shake right and left.

Parivahitt

Greeva bheda: "neck"

1. Sundari: Neck side to side, also called attami.
2. Tirashchina: Upward side to side, v-shape.
3. Prarivartita: Neck in semicircle motion.
4. Prakampita: Neck moved in and out like a duck.

COSTUMES

The costumes in Odissi dance are very elaborate. Some elements of Odissi dance costumes are as follows:

- 1) pattasari: brightly colored silk wrap dress
- 2) kanchula: black or red blouse embellished with diverse stones and gold and silver thread
- 3) ardh-bathaka: or semicircular hair bun
- 4) pushpa-chanda: hair coiled into the shape of a flower
- 5) kati-beni: hair in single plait down the back.
- 6) bindi: an elaborate design often made on the forehead with a red mark
- 7) mahkoot: crown worn by Odissi dancers
- 8) ghoba: or flower decorated back piece of the mahkoot, which sits around the dancer's hair and is pulled into a bun at the back of the head which represents the lotus flower with a thousand petals that lies above the head in the form of head chakra, or energy center.
- 9) thiya: the longer piece that emerges from the center of the back piece which depicts the temple spire of Lord Jagganath or the flute of Lord Krishna
- 10) kapa: elaborate ear covers, similar to earrings
- 11) bahichudi or bajuband: pair of bracelets worn on the upper arm
- 12) kankana: bangles worn on the wrist At the waist, they wear an elaborate belt
- 13) ghungroo: bells that are attached to a leather
- 14) alta: red colored dye that may cover the dancer's palms and soles

MUSIC

Odissi dance is accompanied by Odissi music, a synthesis of music styles. Many scholars of Odissi dance believe that it is a form of "visualized music". Each note has purpose and is attached to a mood in classical Indian music, which Odissi accompanies to express feelings. This is true whether the performance is formal, or less formal.

An Odissi dance troupe comes with musicians and musical instruments. The orchestra consists of various regional music instruments such as:

- pakhawaj: barrel drum
- tabia: double drums
- swarmandal: zither
- harmonium: pump organ
- flute: woodwind instrument
- sitar: plucked string instrument which plays melody, much like an acoustic guitar
- tanpura: plucked string instrument which does not play melody, much like a bass guitar
- bansuri: bamboo flute
- manjira: metal cymbals

A special feature of Odissi music is the padi which consists of words to be sung in Druta Tala (fast beat).

Chhanda (metrical section) contains the essence of Odissi music. The Chhandas were composed by combining Bhava (theme), Kala (time) and Swara (tune).

Odissi Sangita (music) is characterized by a combination of these three elements of music:

- 1) Dhruvapada: first line or lines to be sung repeatedly
- 2) Chitrapada: the arrangement of words where all words begin with the same letter
- 3) Chitrakala: referencing works of art in song

The costumes are focused on the males but the women have found ways to adapt the costumes in different ways. The dance in its traditional form is still performed each year at the Dalada Perahera, procession held each year at the Temple of the Tooth in Kandy.

CHITRASENA DANCE COMPANY

Located in Colombo, Sri Lanka
Artistic Director: Heshma Wignaraja

Mission:

The guiding philosophy for the Chitrasena Dance Company is that "the new is but an extension of the old." That within Sri Lanka's rich and varied dance traditions there is enough material to be mined to create compelling and cutting edge dance theatre for modern audiences. The Company's mission is "preserving our traditional dance forms while innovating within them."

Originally founded in 1944 by Guru Chitrasena, the Chitrasena Dance Company is Sri Lanka's oldest and most distinguished dance company. The company strives to bring Sri Lanka's traditional dances from the village rituals to the modern stage. The company brought Guru Chitrasens's passion of traditional dance and modern movement together to raise the standards of dance theatre in Sri Lanka. Now the school and company is being led by his wife Vajira and his daughter Upeka. They are still keeping his legacy up with love and respect to his art. They are known to be the revolutionists of dance in Sri Lanka and still experiment without compromising the use of traditional dance language and the form to creating beautiful and transformative contemporary dance theatre in Sri Lanka.

In several ballets he choreographed, he has used kandyan dance movements and features. In some ways his popularity also helped to reduce the caste barriers surrounding the dance, and made it more palatable to an urban, contemporary audience. To date one of the largest school for Kandyan dance is Chitrasena Dance School.

Many contemporary dancers in Sri Lanka have borrowed from the Kandyan form for their work.

ACTIVITIES

GRADES PRE-K - 3

Common Core Standards Addressed:

CCSSI. ELA. SL. 1: Prepare for and participate effectively in a range of conversations and collaborations with diverse partners, building on others' ideas and expressing their own clearly and persuasively.

CCSI. ELA. SL. 2: Integrate and evaluate information presented in diverse media and formats, including visually, quantitatively, and orally.

CCSI. ELA. SL. 2.2: Recount or describe key ideas or details from a text read aloud or information presented orally or through other media.

ACTIVITY 1

Goal: Compare and contrast Odissi dance, ballet and hip-hop.

Instructions:

1) Watch an excerpt of Odissi dance performed by Nrityagram Dance Ensemble:

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=pUHN3JffV4I>

2) Watch an excerpt of ballet performed by Mariinsky Ballet:

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=-gApOfm4qd0>

3) Watch an excerpt of hip-hop performed by freestyle hip hop dancers:

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=xZB20XyfLQg>

3) Discuss the differences and similarities between the three performances in terms of movement, costume and music.

ACTIVITY 2

Goal: Create your own traditional Odissi costume

Instructions:

Design your own Odissi costume based on the pictures and text in this study guide. Use your imagination, lots of colors and details and share your finished work with the class.

GRADES 4 - 6

Common Core Standards Addressed:

CCSSI. ELA. W. 5. 2: Write any informative/explanatory texts to examine a topic and convey ideas and information clearly.

CCSI. ELA. W. 5. 7: Conduct short research projects that use several sources to build knowledge through investigation of difference aspects of a topic.

CCSI. ELA. W. 5. 8: Recall relevant information from experiences or gather relevant information from print and digital sources; summarize or paraphrase information in notes and finished work and provide a list of sources.

ACTIVITY 1

Goal: Understand a major aspect of traditional Indian dance more deeply and explain it to the rest of the class.

Instructions:

Choose a major aspect of traditional Indian Dance or Sri Lankan Dance and conduct more in-depth research about it. Write one paragraph about your chosen subject and include 3 facts that the rest of the class might not know. Create a presentation including pictures and the facts to present to the rest of the class.

Topics that you could choose might include, but are not limited to:

- Nrityagram Village Founder Protima Gauri
- Traditional Indian music
- Hand gesture Choreography and its various meanings
- Eye choreography and its various meanings
- Costumes/makeup used in traditional Indian dance
- Traditional Sri Lankan Music
- Kandyan Costumes

ACTIVITY 2

Goal: Create your own Odissi dance!

Instructions:

- 1) Go over the bhangas, mudras/hastas and bhedas covered in this study guide with the students.
- 2) Separate the students into small groups and have them come up with their own choreography that uses 3 different gestures to tell their own story.
- 3) Tell them to be creative! How many different narratives can be created through these hand gestures?
- 4) Have the groups perform their choreography for the class. Have the students guess what the story meant according to the descriptions of the gestures, and finally, have the choreographers explain their narrative.

GRADES 7 - 8

Common Core Standards Addressed:

CCSI. ELA. SL. 1: Prepare for and participate effectively in a range of conversations and collaborations with diverse partners, building on others' ideas and expressing their own clearly and persuasively.

CCSI. ELA. SL. 7.2: Analyze the main ideas and supporting details presented in diverse media and formats (e.g. visually, quantitatively, orally) and explain how the ideas clarify a topic, text or issue under study.

ACTIVITY 1

Goal: Understand the context of traditional Odissi dance and how it's prominence in Indian culture shifted throughout history.

Instructions:

1) Return to page 8 (The History of Odissi) and supplement your knowledge of Odissi history with this essay by A.K. Nandy "Odissi Dance During Mughal & British Rule":

<https://aknandy.wordpress.com/2016/12/27/odissi-dance-during-mughal-british-rule/>

2) Then, read A.K. Nandy's essay "Odissi Dance During Post-Independence" to learn how the perception of Indian dance has changed:

<https://aknandy.wordpress.com/2016/12/27/odissi-dance-during-post-independence/>

3) As a class, discuss how the environment in which Odissi dance was surrounded in affected the accessibility, respectability and expression of the art form.

ACTIVITY 2

Goal: Identify the benefits of the Nrityagram Village and how you would set up your own ashram in a discipline of your choice.

Instructions:

The Nrityagram Village is unique in that the dancers live, sleep, eat and dance together in one village. Pick your favorite activity, from sports to arts to recreational activities and research supplemental activities that would benefit the well-being of its inhabitants in addition to contributing to the improved performance of your chosen activity. Design a "day in the life" at your ashram in collage format and share with your classmates.

GRADES 9 - 10

Common Core Standards Addressed:

CCSSI.ELA.WSHT.9-10.7: Conduct short as well as more sustained research on projects to answer a question (including a self-generated question) or solve a problem; narrow or broaden the inquiry when appropriate; synthesize multiple sources on the subject, demonstrating understanding of the subject under investigation

CCSI.ELA.SL.9-10.4: Present information, findings and supporting evidence clearly, concisely, and logically such that listeners can follow the line of reasoning and the organization, development, substance, and style are appropriate to purpose, audience and task.

CCSI.ELA.SL.9-10.6: Adapt a speech to a variety of contexts, and tasks, demonstrating command of formal English when indicated or appropriate.

ACTIVITY 1

Goal: Research and write an informative essay on a topic of Odissi dance or Kandyan Dance of your choosing.

Instructions: Choose one facet of Odissi dance that interests you and pick a specific component, for example: geography, history, technique, music, costumes, etc. Write a 3-page essay outlining your topic of choice and include a bibliography with at least 5 outside sources.

ACTIVITY 2

Goal: Investigate and do further research into an Indian dance style other than Odissi dance.

Instructions: Refer to the different Indian dance styles outline on page 9 of this study guide. Choose one and create a short presentation outlining the different facets of the dance including geography, history, technique, music, and costumes. Use audio/visual aids whenever possible, and include at least 5 outside sources.

GRADES 11-12

Common Core Standards Addressed:

CCSS1.ELA.SL.11-12.1: Initiate and participate effectively in a range of collaborative discussions (one-on-one, groups, and teacher-led) with diverse partners on grades 11-12 topics, texts, and issues, building on others' ideas and expressing their own clearly and persuasively.

CCSSI.ELA.SL.11-12.4: Present information, findings, and supporting evidence, conveying a clear and distinct perspective, such that listeners can follow the line of reasoning, alternative or opposing perspectives are addressed, and the organization, development, substance, and style are appropriate to purpose, audience, and a range of formal and informal tasks.

CCSSI.ELA.SL.11-12.5: Make strategic use of digital media (e.g. textual, graphical, audio, visual, and interactive elements) in presentations to enhance understanding of findings, reasoning, and evidence and to add interest.

ACTIVITY 1

Goal: Research and present information on one of the official religions in India, and compare it to Hinduism.

Instructions: Include how it came to be practiced in the region, how it is practiced differently in other areas, and compare it to the most popular religion in India -- Hinduism. Discuss holidays, customs, beliefs, ceremonies, or anything you find interesting. Make sure to cite your sources and attach an MLA-style bibliography.

ACTIVITY 2

Goal: Discuss and come to a greater understanding of why dance is such a huge part of Indian or Sri Lankan culture.

Instructions:

Watch the documentary on Nrityagram Dance Village by Nan Melville on Vimeo entitled "Nrityagram: For the Love of Dance" here: <https://vimeo.com/40300623>. Think about the sacrifices that today's dancers need to make to become Odissi dancers. Is the process different for women than it is for men? What inspires the dancers to dedicate their lives to this art form? Is there anything in your life that you would devote this much study to? How is this different and similar to today's athletes that play soccer, basketball, football, etc. or even study other dance forms, like ballet or tap?
